REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance:

Claims 1-5, 33/1 and 33/2 are allowed because the prior art references of record fail to teach a liquid detecting device for a liquid container comprising or suggest a liquid-detecting device comprising a first electrode that is formed on a side of a second face of a base, the first electrode having a main portion formed in a size larger than a bottom of a concavity so as to cover an almost overall area corresponding to the bottom of the concavity, the main portion including a notch formed so as to extend inward over a position corresponding to a periphery of the bottom of a concavity in the combination as claimed.

Claims 6-12, 33/6, 33/7 and 33/9 are allowed because the prior art references of record fail to teach or suggest a liquid detecting device for a liquid container comprising a first electrode that is formed in a size larger than a bottom of a concavity on a side of a second face of a base so as to cover an overall area corresponding to the bottom of the concavity in the combination as claimed.

Claims 13-18, 33/13 and 33/14 are allowed because the prior art references of record fail to teach or a liquid detecting device for a liquid container comprising a first electrode that is formed in a size larger than a bottom of a concavity on a side of a second face of a base so as to cover an overall area corresponding to the bottom of a concavity and a piezoelectric layer having a main portion that is formed in a size larger than the bottom of a concavity, the main portion of a piezoelectric layer being laminated on the first electrode so as to cover the overall area corresponding to a bottom of a concavity in the combination as claimed.

Claims 19-21, 33/19 and 33/20 are allowed because the prior art references of record fail to teach or suggest a liquid detecting device for a liquid container comprising a piezoelectric layer having a main portion that is formed in a size smaller than said main portion of a first electrode, the main portion of the piezoelectric layer being laminated on the main portion of a first electrode in the combination as claimed.

Claims 22-26, 33/22 and 33/23 are allowed because the prior art references of record fail to teach or suggest a liquid detecting device for a liquid container comprising a first electrode that is formed in a size larger than a bottom of a concavity on a side of a second face of a base so as to cover an overall area corresponding to the bottom of a concavity and a piezoelectric layer having a main portion that is formed in a size larger than a bottom of a concavity, the main portion of the piezoelectric layer being laminated on the first electrode so as to cover the overall area corresponding to a bottom of the concavity in the combination as claimed.

Claims 27-35, 33/27 and 33/28 are allowed because the prior art references of record fail to teach or suggest a liquid detecting device for a liquid container comprising a first electrode that is formed on a side of a second face of a base, the first electrode having a main portion and an extension part, the main portion being formed in a size smaller than a bottom of a concavity and arranged within an area corresponding to the bottom of the concavity, the extension part extending from the main part of the first electrode up to an outside of the area corresponding to the bottom of the concavity in the combination as claimed.

Citation of Pertinent Prior Art

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. These prior art references (US Pat. 4,644,789; US Pat. 5,583,544; US Pat. 6,336,647; US Pat. 6,470,744; US Pat. 6,675,646) cited in the PTO 892 form show a liquid detector which is deemed to be relevant to the present invention. These references should be reviewed.

CONCLUSION

Any comments considered necessarily by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the Issue Fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the Issue Fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
